

THOUSANDS MOURN AT BIER OF ARCHBISHOP MONTGOMERY

BOW! WOW!
SAVES LIVES

Dog Gives an Alarm to People in House
on Fire; Fainting Girls Are Rescued.

BERKELEY, Jan. 14.—The timely barking of a pet dog probably saved the lives of a household of people at a fire early this morning at 1829 Arch street, in North Berkeley. The little dog, "Queen," had been left all night in the dining-room before the grate. Towards morning the few coals that had been left burning set fire to the woodwork beneath the tiling. The flames licked their way up the marble piece. "Queen," who is a setter, gave the alarm by her quick, sharp barks, awakening T. P. Tuttle, her master, who was asleep in the adjoining room.

In the same room with Tuttle was W. P. Paul and Fred Fitch. Tuttle hastened to give the alarm to the fire department by telephone. His next care was for the other occupants of the house. In the front part of the ground floor, slept Frank W. Fitch and Mrs. Fitch, his sister, and also Miss May Lang, who is visiting with the family. These three were easily awakened, but a greater difficulty was experienced in arousing Miss Grace Johnson and Miss Kinney, who boarded alone in the upper story.

GIRLS NEARLY FAINT.

The flames by this time had penetrated almost to the roof of the house through the two stories, and the upper portion was filled with smoke. Miss Johnson and Miss Kinney failed to respond when called. Young Tuttle ran upstairs and found that the two girls were indeed awake, but were unable to find their way down, because of the density of the smoke. They were about ready to faint, when he caught them in his arms and partially dragged them to the front door, where they were revived.

$2500 DAMAGE DONE.

By the time the entire household were on the streets, in their night clothes, the fire department had arrived, and managed to save the lower floor of the building, except for the damage due to water. The entire upper floor was gutted and the roof burned off. The damage will amount to about $2500.

Mrs. Frank W. Fitch and her husband, T. P. Tuttle, who is Mrs. Fitch's brother, Fred Fitch, a brother of the elder Mr. Fitch and W. P. Paul, a friend of the family, as also Miss May Lang, are now staying at the residence of Prof. F. E. Farrington, who lives nearby at 1829 Arch street, while Miss Grace Johnson and Miss Kinney have taken shelter at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hyde Chick, at 1833 Arch street.

BODY OF UNKNOWN MAN IS FOUND

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—The body of an unknown man, who seemed to be of good means, was found early this morning at the corner of Fillmore and Hayes street. Several bottles of whiskey were found upon the remains and an autopsy shows that the deceased died of alcoholism. There was nothing upon the body with which to identify the man. His remains are now at the morgue, where an inquest will be held.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—The funeral of the late Archbishop Montgomery was held from St. Mary's Cathedral today in the presence of an immense throng of people, Archbishop Riordan, Bishop Grace of Sacramento and Bishop Conaty of Los Angeles officiating. The interior of the sacred edifice was elaborately decorated in black and purple and the high altar presented an imposing spectacle when the assembled priests gathered for the ceremony. Outside on either side of Van Ness avenue thousands of people stood to watch the funeral cortege, being unable to gain admittance to the cathedral. The solemn requiem high mass was said by Bishop R. Gace and Bishop Conaty delivered the sermon. He spoke eloquently of the life and services of the departed archbishop and his voice broke frequently throughout his discourse as he told of the work which Archbishop Montgomery had accomplished. At the close of the services the funeral party proceeded down Van Ness avenue to Market and thence to the Southern-Pacific station, where a special train was taken to Holy Cross Cemetery in San Mateo county, where the remains were placed in a vault.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—"A mighty leader has fallen. Sorrow fills the heart and makes the voice quake with emotion. A blow has been struck which takes from you a high priest, a good and virtuous man, an idyl bishop and a martyr to duty. Archbishop Montgomery is dead and we all feel keenly the loss."

In these words alone Bishop Conaty of Los Angeles paid a tribute to the memory of the late Archbishop George Montgomery, whose funeral was held today from St. Mary's Cathedral, San Francisco.

It was a strong eulogy that the prelate from the southern city preached and the love of the one man for the other was evidenced in every line that was spoken.

WORDS OF PRAISE.

In a full, firm voice that could be heard in every part of the large auditorium, Bishop Conaty paid his tribute, but it was noticeable toward the close that the voice so strong at the beginning broke slightly occasionally.

BISHOP CONATY'S TRIBUTE.

Bishop Conaty said in part: "We are face to face with the dead and our hearts are bowed down with grief. A mighty leader has fallen. Sorrow fills the heart and makes the voice quake with emotion. A blow has been struck which takes from you a high priest, a good and virtuous man, who prayed for all the people; an ideal bishop, a faithful shepherd, a martyr to duty."

"Archbishop Montgomery is dead and we all feel keenly the loss."

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord. The faithful shepherd goes to his master."

GONE TO REWARD.

"Why weep like those who have no hope. Our brother has gone to his reward. Good Shepherd, take him to thy sacred heart."

"Death causes separation, but we rejoice that the valient soldier has been crowned with the laurels of victory."

STILLED BY DEATH.

"Yesterday he was leading us; today his voice is still in death."

"A high priest, a good and virtuous man, modest in looks, graceful in his speech, how natural is that description of him."

"The paths of Archbishop Montgomery are marked with simplicity and earnestness. He has been spoken of as the modest ecclesiastic and student."

TWO RIVALS COME TO BLOWS

Beautiful Wife Is in Company of Young Man; Result Is a Fight; None Hurt.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—

Upon arriving home at an unexpected moment last night, Oles Nygard, a mate on a bay schooner, found his beautiful wife in the company of Harry Waidelich, a young man who had been accustomed to call upon the young woman during her husband's absence.

Nygard drew his revolver and fired two shots at his rival, who returned the fire. All the shots missed taking effect, however, and the two men, together with the woman over whom they fought, were taken to the Mission street police station.

No charges have been filed as yet, but the trio will be detained until an investigation is made of the case.

Nygard and his wife reside at Twenty-second and Kansas streets, where they have recently built a new home.

The husband was accustomed to be away a great deal of the time, and in his absence Mrs. Nygard received the attentions of Waidelich.

PACIFIC MAIL BOAT ASHORE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—The Merchants' Exchange has received a message stating that the Pacific Mail steamship Barracouta is ashore at Carrizito, Nicaragua. A portion of the cargo is being taken off by lighters and it is expected that the vessel will be floated at the next high tide. Carrizito is not a port of call for the Barracouta, and it is not known why she stopped there.

The Barracouta is a freight vessel owned by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company but now engaged in the coffee trade between Central America and Panama. Under command of Captain H. E. Nelson she left here last November. The company has received no particulars of the accident.

PRAYERS FOR DEAD PRELATE IN ALL CATHOLIC CHURCHES

Masses Are Sung and Evidences of Great Grief Are Manifest Throughout the City.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—In all of the Catholic churches throughout the city there was sorrowing of the deepest kind as the usual masses were said yesterday and the gloom that hangs over the diocese and the church was evident in the thousands of devout parishioners who attended the services. Everywhere there was the solemn draping of somber black and purple hung on the altar and sanctuary. And the sorrowing priests who preached the sermons spoke with tender sympathy of and glowing tribute to the prelate whose devotion to duty and unflinching efforts had endeavored to every one who knew him, whether of the same creed or not.

At St. Paul's the Rev. Clement MacLure of Los Angeles formerly secretary to Archbishop Montgomery when he was head of the diocese in the southern part of the state and delivered the sermon at the 10:15 o'clock mass. He spoke in glowing terms of the Archbishop's life and of his work and asked that the people of the church imitate the course taken by the dead prelate in all that was good and holy. The parishioners were asked to pray for the repose of Archbishop Montgomery's soul. A solemn requiem high mass will be celebrated at this church next Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

At St. Peter's the Rev. Father J. J. Gannon of St. Joseph's Church in the city spoke at the high mass at the Star of the Sea Church. He drew a lesson from the life that had just closed, spoke of the beauty that lay in the late Archbishop's mode of living and explained the effectiveness of the work he had done. Prayers were offered at all the masses.

PRAY FOR SOUL OF PRELATE.
In the sermon preached by the Rev. Father N. P. Ryan at St. Vincent de Paul's Church, the rich and poor alike in this city and in Los Angeles were exhorted to pray for the dead prelate. It was in the midst of all classes of society that Archbishop Montgomery's name and the value of his offices and it was Father Ryan's word to his people that this be kept in mind by them.

The church was draped in mourning. On next Thursday morning a solemn requiem high mass will be celebrated for the repose of the dead Archbishop's soul.

All of the school children of the parish attended 9 o'clock mass at the Star of the Sea Church.

At St. Charles' Church the Rev. Father Gannon, the pastor, paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the departed archbishop. He said: "He was one man in a mass and ever willing and ready to assist the poor and needy. He was a true soldier of Christ and a man who commanded the love, admiration and respect of men, women and children of every creed and in every walk of life."

The Rev. Father Janch preached the sermon at the last mass at St. James' Church. He said: "He has gone from us now at the very hour when he could have done so much more good. It is sad to think that a man like him should be taken away by the Divine Master while he was still robust, apparently healthy, and I might say, in his prime. He did his work well when he was in our midst and we should not forget him now."

At St. Teresa's Church in the Portrero, Father O'Connell did not refer to the death of the archbishop when he preached the sermon at the last mass. However, he will join with the various other churches of the parish in a requiem mass as soon as Archbishop Riordan issues the orders.

At St. James' Church, San Francisco, the Rev. Father Clappett, pastor of Trinity Church, in his sermon yesterday, paid a tribute to the late Archbishop Montgomery. He spoke in part as follows:

"The death of the Most Rev. George Montgomery, Archbishop Coadjutor of the Roman Catholic Church, is a blow felt far beyond the confines of his own communion."

"The strong wholesome influence of his truly conservative life has impressed itself upon the whole community. His prelate was marked by the building up of splendid principles and of noble purposes, and I acknowledge myself to be one of so many outside of his creed who thank God for the good that he was privileged by divine grace to do."

"The temperance movement had no sturdier champion. The men of a generation yet to come, who in their youth were influenced by his example and teaching to take the vow of a life of temperance, will be a mighty force for righteousness in the city of San Francisco."

"Archbishop Montgomery has been taken to his rest; but he has bequeathed the memory of a life consecrated to Godlike purposes, and we share with his own people the deep sorrow that a life of such great usefulness was taken in the plenitude of his power."

"Requiescat in pace."

Holy Cross Church, when Father McGinty delivered the sermon. The children of the church, for the welfare of the Archbishop's soul.

A special sermon was delivered by the Rev. Father T. B. Heverin at last mass in St. Agnes' church and at the 7:30 o'clock mass the pastor, Rev. Father Slattery, spoke a few words about the late prelate. At both the 9 o'clock and 10 o'clock masses Father Collins delivered the sermon. St. Agnes' Church is draped in the colors that indicate sorrow.

SERVICE OF THE CHURCH.
At St. Peter's Church the Rev. Father P. S. Consey told from the altar at last mass of the Archbishop's great services to church and state, and paid a sweet tribute to his many qualities as a priest and as a man. He was remembered at the other three masses.

At all the masses in St. Charles' Church the priests eulogized their dead superior, the sermon of the day being preached by the Rev. Father J. J. Gannon. At St. Joseph's Church the Rev. Father P. J. Keane, pastor of the church, delivered short sermons at the other masses.

Father Doran celebrated high mass at last mass of the Archbishop's great services to church and state, and Father Cottle, filled with the sorrow that hangs over those of the church, preached the sermon.

Sacred Heart Church at Tell and Fillmore streets was crowded to the doors yesterday at both the 9:30 and 11 o'clock masses, when special requiem services were held in memory of the late Archbishop. The Rev. Father McGuire pastor of the church, spoke at the latter service. He said:

"While our lamented coadjutor was attending the seminary at Baltimore he was considered by the Superior monks whose lives are devoted to educating the men for the priesthood, to be the most exemplary scholar who ever studied under them. Every one who knew him at once recognized his superior qualities. He was as dearly loved by those outside the Catholic church as he was by his own followers."

LOVED THE CHILDREN
Father Comerford said the earlier mass, which was for the children. He told them how the dead Archbishop loved the little ones and entreated them to offer up their prayers for his soul.

MUSICAL PROGRAM IS VERY ELABORATE ONE
The musical program for the cathedral services was very elaborate. The regular choir was considerably augmented for the occasion. Mozart's solemn requiem mass for the dead was sung by a choir of mixed voices. This was the principal musical number. The members of the choir are: Soprano, Miss V. Hickey, Miss Mabel Mitchell, Miss Clara Nunan, Miss Julia Sullivan, Miss Parent, Miss Helen R. Kelly, tenor, David Manillo, Thomas Nolan, J. B. Lane, basses, S. J. Sundry, C. Parent, Mr. Williamson, organist, R. J. Harrison.

A feature of the requiem mass was the singing of the Gregorian portions by the elder students of St. Patrick's Seminary at Menlo Park.

EULOGY IS PREACHED AT THE OLD MISSION
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—Father Cummins, ex-pastor of the Mission Dolores Church, preached the eulogy at the last mass in the old mission. In part he said:

"Words fail me when I try to tell you how the death of so loyal a man as the archbishop affected me. I am not in this occasion without speaking a few words out of respect to one of the greatest leaders the church in our far West city ever knew."

At St. Charles' Church the Rev. Father Gannon, the pastor, paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the departed archbishop. He said: "He was one man in a mass and ever willing and ready to assist the poor and needy. He was a true soldier of Christ and a man who commanded the love, admiration and respect of men, women and children of every creed and in every walk of life."

The Rev. Father Janch preached the sermon at the last mass at St. James' Church. He said: "He has gone from us now at the very hour when he could have done so much more good. It is sad to think that a man like him should be taken away by the Divine Master while he was still robust, apparently healthy, and I might say, in his prime. He did his work well when he was in our midst and we should not forget him now."

At St. Teresa's Church in the Portrero, Father O'Connell did not refer to the death of the archbishop when he preached the sermon at the last mass. However, he will join with the various other churches of the parish in a requiem mass as soon as Archbishop Riordan issues the orders.

At St. James' Church, San Francisco, the Rev. Father Clappett, pastor of Trinity Church, in his sermon yesterday, paid a tribute to the late Archbishop Montgomery. He spoke in part as follows:

"The death of the Most Rev. George Montgomery, Archbishop Coadjutor of the Roman Catholic Church, is a blow felt far beyond the confines of his own communion."

"The strong wholesome influence of his truly conservative life has impressed itself upon the whole community. His prelate was marked by the building up of splendid principles and of noble purposes, and I acknowledge myself to be one of so many outside of his creed who thank God for the good that he was privileged by divine grace to do."

"The temperance movement had no sturdier champion. The men of a generation yet to come, who in their youth were influenced by his example and teaching to take the vow of a life of temperance, will be a mighty force for righteousness in the city of San Francisco."

"Archbishop Montgomery has been taken to his rest; but he has bequeathed the memory of a life consecrated to Godlike purposes, and we share with his own people the deep sorrow that a life of such great usefulness was taken in the plenitude of his power."

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES HELD AT THE CATHEDRAL AND THE GRAVE

"Nearly nineteen of the twenty-seven years of his priesthood have been passed in our midst. He was nearly nine years bishop of Monterey and Los Angeles."

"The bishop is the follower of the divine master in his diocese, the high priest the father of his people. He must be ready to defend and protect the people. The duty that lies before us is to reach the heart of the people and lead them in the right."

OF THE PEOPLE.

"Archbishop Montgomery was a man of the people, impressing every one with his sincerity."

"Falsehood never flattered its flag without a protest from him. He always realized that the sun was shining behind the darkest cloud, and he was oblivious of self when a service was wanted for another."

"He was pure gold of sterling worth. He was always the man his preaching would lead other men to be, and he had a great devotion for sacred studies."

"He loved his church and was proud of its intellectual character. Learning is the proud boast of the Catholic Church. Faith and knowledge go hand in hand together."

NEAR TO GOD
"Archbishop Montgomery pleaded for a broad mind and intelligent application of the Catholic Church. In all his life he saw God and the things of God. His life was the life of a man of God. Obedience to his duty characterized his entire life."

"He was gentleness itself, all humility of kindness. No man is truly great who is not truly good."

"Archbishop Montgomery threw his whole heart and soul in all that he did. When face to face with difficulties he met them courageously. He was a living example of a good priest. His secret of success was his devotion to his chosen work."

"He was always the gentleman, the priest, the bishop. He was impressed with the idea that a bishop's life must be one of service."

LOVED THE POOR.
"Archbishop Montgomery was an optimist. He loved the poor and went among them. His heart was so tender that he never could refuse to respond to a call of charity. He belonged to a noble type of true priests and of apostolic bishops."

"Archbishop Montgomery was a true American, and he loved his country and his state. He was also devoted to all the interests of California. In questions of religion he was fearless, in public things he stood for what would best aid the people."

"He has been a true brother, always an inspiration, and an encouragement. In the love of God he lived, in His love he died. My feeble words of praise have been said, they may stimulate us to imitate him."

"I tender our sympathies to the sorrowing relatives, to the priests who have loved him as a bishop, a father and a friend."

"May his soul rest with God." It was a solemn and impressive service that marked the final tribute to the late Archbishop George Montgomery.

Those who had known, loved and honored the late prelate both as a priest and as a man, began to gather at St. Mary's Cathedral early this morning and long before the time appointed for the celebration of pontifical high mass, 10 o'clock the spacious nave was filled to overflowing. It was the regard of the friends of the late archbishop that a still larger auditorium could not have been secured, as it was necessary to deny many admission to St. Mary's.

After the large auditorium had been filled at the time for the opening of the service had arrived, bishops and priests, with solemn mien filed into the sanctuary and took their appointed places.

It devolved upon Bishop Grace, of Sacramento, to celebrate pontifical high mass, which he did with his accustomed dignity and grace, assisted by Rev. Fr. J. Kenney and Rev. Fr. T. Connors.

PLACES OF HONOR.
Archbishop Riordan occupied the throne within the sanctuary, while Father O'Dea, of Seattle, was the sanctuary. The gospel was sung by Rev. Fr. Cottle, of St. Bridget's.

The main chapel of St. Mary's was draped with mourning. The great window of the Assumption overlooking the sanctuary was covered with a thin sheet of black. The recess on the gospel side of the sanctuary was draped in black and purple. The tall columns back of the chancel were hung with purple, and the railings of the transepts were covered with purple cloth. The organ loft was hung heavily with purple and black, as were also the three entrances in front.

In the center of the front rested the sarcophagus containing the remains of the dead archbishop, and along the altar rail were the floral tributes.

On the coffin were laid the miter, the symbol of episcopate, and the crozier, the symbol of pastorate, which Archbishop Montgomery held at the time of his death. The priests and bishops each dressed in cossack and surplice made an imposing array, filling the sanctuary and occupying seats in the chapel.

THOUSANDS PRESENT.
Probably never in the history of California has there been such a gathering at a funeral, which is an indication of the popularity of the divine, who had won the hearts of all with whom he came in contact. Also, the funeral was the first of an archbishop of the Catholic church to be held in the State.

When Bishop Conaty's last words had died away preparations were made for the removal of the body of the prelate to Holy Cross cemetery.

About noon the funeral cortege left the cathedral, en route to the depot at Valencia and Twenty-fifth streets. From the latter place the funeral train moved to the cemetery, where the remains were met by the student body of St. Patrick's seminary, who chanted requiem psalms. At the interment at the cemetery Archbishop Riordan recited the burial service, and with his own hands poured the first bits of earth upon the coffin containing the remains of his late coadjutor.

HERBERT SCHMITZ A GUARD.
Many Catholic societies were represented at the funeral, and Herbert Schmitz, a brother of Mayor Eugene Schmitz, was a member of the guard of honor from the Knights of Columbus.

It had been anticipated that St. Mary's Cathedral would not hold the throng that would wish to attend the services this morning, and for that reason the clergy was admitted first, including their representatives from all the parishes and colleges in the archdiocese.

Representatives of the brothers of the educational order, the sisters from the convent, the hospitals and the asylums were among those next admitted. The regular police holders were admitted as far as possible, but scores were disappointed when they were turned away at the door.

Police on foot and mounted kept order at the funeral, and the throng in the vicinity of the church. At the main entrance was stationed Chief Dignan and some of his captains, while at the other doors were patrolmen. Those who had tickets of admission were passed in without question, but there was little chance for a person not holding the necessary ticket to gain admission.

CLEARED BY POLICE.
The stairways leading to the side entrances were thronged with persons long after the service opened, but the main stairway was cleared by the police when the auditorium had been filled.

Never was greater tribute paid to a man.

Archbishop Riordan presided at the services. The mass was celebrated by Bishop Grace of Sacramento.

After services at the cathedral the procession formed on Van Ness avenue and advanced down Van Ness to Market and Fell, on Fell to Octavia, on Octavia to Guerrero, on Guerrero to Twentieth, on Twentieth to Valencia, and on Valencia to the Valencia street station, where a special train was in waiting to convey the body to its last resting place in Holy Cross Cemetery.

The orders which attended are San Francisco Council No. 615, Knights of Columbus; California Council, Knights of Columbus, No. 880; Young Men's Institute, League of the Cross Cadets, Society of St. Vincent de Paul, Young Men's Catholic Union, Young Ladies' Institute, League of the Cross Band.

PROTESTANT CLERGY PAY TRIBUTE TO MONTGOMERY

Death of Roman Catholic Prelate Declared Great Loss to Society and the Church.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—A number of leading Protestant clergymen of the city gave expression in the pulpit yesterday to the general sense of loss felt in religious circles by reason of the death of Archbishop Montgomery.

"The death of Most Reverend George Montgomery, coadjutor Archbishop of San Francisco," said Rev. F. W. Clappett, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, "will extend in its influence far beyond the confines of his communion. His life as a prelate of the Roman Catholic church was marked with the greatest zeal. His advocacy of the temperance movement will remain in its influence over the young men of this city. His strong earnestness with which he pleaded for Christian education, both in the home and in the schools among children, will have its widespread effect. It is with the deepest sorrow that we mourn the loss of one so beloved, not only by his own people, but by those outside. It is sad that he should have been taken in the plenitude of his powers. Requiescat in peace."

WAS TRUE MAN.
"Archbishop Montgomery was the true man," said the Rev. H. N. Vetter of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was always noted for the great breadth of his view, and was willing to work in harmony with the Protestants as well as the clergy of his own church in all moral movements. He was especially to be commended for his invaluable work on the temperance question, and his unceasing efforts to promote moral and religious teaching in the public schools. His death is a distinct loss to the city of San Francisco, which will be long and deeply felt."

Rev. Dr. Fuending of St. Markus German Lutheran church spoke of the high esteem in which he had always held Archbishop Montgomery, and said that the death of the prelate was a great loss to the church and to the city.

son of America, and that Californians loved and revered Archbishop Montgomery, was shown by their desire to attend the services.

When Bishop Conaty had finished his sermon there were many moist eyes in the vast throng, an indication of the effect of the beautiful words spoken by the prelate as a tribute to his departed brother.

ALAMEDANS EXCUSED FOR GETTING DRUNK
To live in Alameda justifies becoming intoxicated is the belief of Police Judge Samuels. Edmund J. Rafael and Oliver Samuels appeared in Judge Samuels' court this morning charged with drunkenness and using vulgar language. The former was the first to enter a plea, which was "guilty." He then stated that he had lived in Alameda only since the earthquake. "That's enough," quoth the Court. "You can go. Oliver was the second to plead 'guilty.' He was residing in Alameda. 'Justifiable homicide,' said Judge Samuels and he suspended sentence.

When Harry Holly the alleged abductor of pretty Miss Estelle Cunningham came into court this morning to be arraigned on the charge of kidnapping the young woman who lacks a few months of being eighteen, he pleaded not guilty to the charge preferred against him by the girl's mother. Holly was in the best of spirits when he was led into court by a bailiff and confided that the case will never be set for February 20. Holly in the meantime is confined in the county jail unable to secure a $5000 bond which the police had posted on him when he was bound over to a higher tribunal.

DR. RADER'S TRIBUTE TO LATE ARCHBISHOP

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—During the course of his sermon yesterday in the Colonial Theater, Rev. William Rader, the Protestant clergyman, referred to the death of Coadjutor Archbishop Montgomery in the following words:

"I desire to say a word about my co-worker, Archbishop Montgomery, whose death has been so sudden and, from our earthly viewpoint, so untimely."

"The passing of this distinguished prelate is a loss to Catholicism. Bishop Montgomery occupied a unique position in the history of San Francisco. He was a true man and the young men served strongly for the best things and the highest ideals. As a Protestant clergyman, I wish to bear witness of his great work in this city."

"Others have divided the community, but Bishop Montgomery did a work of unification, construction and profit. He joined with all good men in the battle for the right, and his work among the young men of this city in behalf of temperance will be his imperishable memorial."

"It is a great thing to leave such a legacy. It is a great gift to humanity—this life of Bishop Montgomery; and, irrespective of creed and church, we today mourn the loss of one who has won a place in the life of San Francisco."

SENATOR CLARK'S WIFE MAKES HER SOCIAL DEBUT IN NEW YORK

"I FEEL at home in Washington, because it reminds me of Paris. In reality, it makes little difference where I live so long as I am with my husband. I do not aspire to social leadership."—Mrs. W. A. Clark.

Holds Reception for Husband's Friends—Says She'll Like America.

NOT SOCIALLY AMBITIOUS

Expects to Make Another Trip to Paris Before Occupying Mansion.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Resplendent in a gown of shimmering white satin and lace, with rarely beautiful diamonds about her neck, Mrs. W. A. Clark, wife of the Montana millionaire and United States Senator, held a reception recently, at which she met many of the friends of her husband for the first time. The senator's handsomely appointed apartments, at No. 175 West Fifty-eighth street, were filled with men and women who represented the social, business and political acquaintances of the millionaire, who intends to make New York his home upon the completion of his great mansion in Fifth avenue, which has cost him millions.

Mrs. Clark returned from Paris on Saturday, and with her were her two little daughters, aged four years and six months. When seen yesterday afternoon by an American reporter Mrs. Clark was dressed for the reception, and the elegant simplicity of her gown accentuated the youthfulness of her face and figure.

"Yes, I am here for some time," she said. "That is, I shall go to Washington soon, where we expect to remain until May or June. I am looking forward with great interest to my visit there, as Mr. Clark has many friends in that city, and I feel at home there because it reminds me of Paris. You see, I have lived in Paris for ten years, and I scarcely know anything of society here. This will be practically my social debut, and I feel sure that I shall like America just as well as I do Paris, in time.

"In reality," Mrs. Clark continued, "it makes little difference where live, so long as I am with my husband, for I am devoted to him and my two little ones, and do not care for society. In the usual sense of the term, I like my friends and my husband's friends, and it is in order that I may know some of his friends before we go to Washington that this reception is to be held today. It is of a most informal nature."

When asked if they would make New York their home permanently, Mrs. Clark said that was the intention of the senator. "You see, the new house is far from completed as yet, and we will return to Paris after our stay here, for most of the furnishings will come from abroad. The house will be very beautiful after it is finished, I think."

Asked whether she preferred European society to that of America, Mrs. Clark modestly added that she knew little of either.

"I have been out very little socially in Paris, although we have always had a delightful circle of friends. I don't aspire to social leadership; those things are not worth while at best; but that is not to say I am averse to society. In Washington we shall probably entertain considerably, but only those people whom we are fond, and with no other idea in mind."

Mrs. Clark, while in no way a beauty, is a woman of delightful personality and simplicity of manner. She wore her light brown hair simply coiled upon the top of her head. Her eyes are bluish gray, large and intelligent, her mouth shapely and girlish in outline. She is quite a bit thinner than she was on her last visit here, and paler. Her Parisian frock was of the coziest of shimmering satins, made with sweeping train and trimmed about the bodice with a yoke of all over lace and a drapery of satin and lace. It was a combination of empire and princess effects and was most becoming to her slender figure. About her neck was a strand of diamonds and a pendant from which solitaires hung was worn on a thin gold chain.

MRS. CLARK'S ROMANTIC STORY.

The history of Mrs. Clark is romantic. As a young girl in Butte, Montana, she lived with her father, Dr. Theophilus La Chapelle, a French Canadian who went West to recover his health. Knowing of the wealth and power of Senator Clark, he appealed to the millionaire mining man on his deathbed to care for his family, which Clark promised to do.

Ada, one of the children, was remarkably talented as a musician, and Mr. Clark sent her to Boston, where her talents developed such promise that he was advised to send her abroad. At that time his affection was that of a father for a foster child. The young girl resided in Paris with the senator's widowed sister and studied the languages and the harp and piano for five years, and it was only upon his annual visit abroad that the young ward saw the man who had proved to be her fairy godfather and later became her husband.

It was in 1890 that Senator Clark proposed. A year later they were married, the ceremony being performed at a small village near Marseilles. Since the marriage Mrs. Clark has only been in this country once.

New York society is very much interested in the case of Ulanco, the fine Russian wolf-hound belonging to Miss Betty Morton, daughter of Alexander E. Morton, whose leg recently was broken by a gunshot. It was necessary to have the wounded leg amputated, but young Miss Morton has decided that her pet must have an artificial leg, which is being manufactured. A picture of the beautiful owner of Ulanco is herewith shown, also of the dog as he will appear with his "phony" leg.

HANDED HIS TEACHER A LEMON AND WAS EXPELLED

Jersey Girl Failed to See the Joke When Fruit Is Placed on Desk as Christmas Gift.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Of all the localities where the lemon has thrived since first it was handed out, the blight has struck it in Jersey City. Although suffering keenly from the bitter effects of the discovery little Albert Frick, a pupil in Public School No. 20, magnanimously gives warning to all that the fruit is no longer safe to touch, taste or handle.

Pupils in the school follow the established custom of presenting to their teacher some little token at the conclusion of the Christmas exercises. Flowers, boxes of candy, Yuletide cards and trinkets were piled high on Miss Ballo's desk. Such bountiful expressions of esteem well nigh overwhelmed her. She had to rattle off exclamations of delight before fully exposing each of the many tokens tied with ribbons gay.

"Beautiful! How thoughtful! You're a dear, Al! My, how fragrant! Just as cute! This is perfectly to—"

Miss Ballo's face was observed to take on a pained expression. Her hands dropped to her lap and a lemon bounced on the floor. The room was all a-titter. Miss Ballo scanned the countenances before her. Her eyes lingered on Albert Frick. Little Albert was apparently absorbed in studying the placid features of George Washington, framed on the wall.

"Children," Miss Ballo said sternly, "who handed me?" She could get no further.

The ominous silence was broken by a little girl who held up her hand and murmured:

"Please teacher, it was Albert Frick. I seen him."

Albert, with a last despairing look at George Washington, spoke up:

"Yes, teacher, it was me."

The matter was reported to Principal Murphy, and after a conference with Miss Ballo on the lemon crop, little Albert was handed his. It was marked "expulsion." Principal Murphy said last night that in the interest of school discipline it had been found necessary to expel Albert. Albert says he purchased the lemon to hand to some schoolmate but in a fatal moment endowed Miss Ballo with it.

DAUGHTER OF INDIAN CHIEF MARRIED TO 'VARSITY MAN

Cambridge Girl Is Popular in New York Society, Very Beautiful and Accomplished.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 14.—News leaked out here today of the quiet marriage last Thursday of Miss Maude Theresa Parker, formerly of Perth Amboy, N. J., daughter of General Ely Samuel Parker, a full-blooded Indian chief of the Seneca tribe, Six Nations, to Arthur Bennett Bullard, a member of the second richest and one of the most aristocratic families of the university city. The couple sailed today for a tour of Europe.

The bride is a handsome girl and popular in New York society. Her father was a staff aide to General Grant during the Civil War and rose to the rank of brigadier-general. Bullard's son, Willard A. Bullard, is a banker and gas magnate and treasurer of the Alloy & Emery Company. The groom's family testified their approval of his choice by many rare and expensive gifts to the bride.

DID EVE GIVE HIM A LEMON?

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 14.—Members of the American Modern Language Association say that it was not an apple which Eve gave to Adam in the Garden of Eden. They will debate what it was. Some of them think that she handed him a lemon. The debate is set for Saturday morning and will be led by Professor Oliver M. Johnson of Leland Stanford University.

A stirring event is scheduled for tomorrow, when the advocates and opponents of simplified spelling will discuss the status of the reform. Professor Brander Matthews will lead the debate. The annual convention opened today, with Professor Hadley of Yale as chairman. About 200 delegates were present.

GIRL WILL NOT NAME BETRAYER

Young and Pretty Woman Is Mystery to Police—Her Lips Are Sealed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Her lips sealed as to the identity of the man who is said to have wooed and then deserted her, a young and pretty woman, stylishly dressed, was a prisoner in the Yorkville Court yesterday. Concerning her there was much mystery, which the police did little to lift. She gave her name as "Miss Laura Altenburg," and her home as the Hotel Roland, 55 East Fifty-ninth street.

The name and address are believed to have been assumed, and the young woman is said to come of a good family. "Miss 'Altenburg'" reached court in the custody of Policeman Rabe. He carried two large suit cases belonging to the prisoner. Miss "Altenburg," with her air of refinement, looked out of place in the motley collection of disheveled men and women in the pen.

Lawyer Champ Andrews, of the County Medical Society, who was there to prosecute her, asked Sergeant Eingham to have her brought to one of the spectators' benches. There Lawyer Andrews and his associate, Lawyer Cooper, held a long and earnest conference with her. But Miss "Altenburg" is said to have remained silent under most of the questions asked her. She steadfastly refused to mention the name of her fiancé, whom the police have diligently and vainly sought.

Miss "Altenburg" was finally arraigned before Magistrate Mayo, but at Lawyer Andrews' request no testimony was given, and she was paroled until January 17. The lawyers refused to say a word about her case.

All that Policeman Rabe would say was that Miss "Altenburg," on the night of December 20, was found in a dying condition at the house of a midwife in East Fifth street and removed to the Flower Hospital. Since then it is said that the young woman has made a confession implicating the woman, who has disappeared, but she has steadfastly refused to disclose the name of her sweetheart.

The lawyers refused to disclose Miss "Altenburg's" true name or her family connections.

Cinderella's glass slipper is almost rivalled by the dainty little dance shoes of white satin, almost entirely covered with massed crystal beads.

One of the most fascinating elastic belts shown is in a delicate lavender on a gold harness buckle, which is enameled in lavender to match the pattern of the belt.

WEDDED BY JUSTICE IN SHIRT SLEEVES.

Samuel Pancoast Hastily Marries Estelle Heady, Who Figured in Escape.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Estelle E. Heady, who figured in an escape last July, was one of the two chief actors in a hasty wedding when she became Mrs. Samuel Pancoast Saturday afternoon.

There was no preparation, neither were there any attendants. "We just decided all of a sudden to get married, and we did it at once," said the bride, in explanation.

Mr. Pancoast has been paying Miss Heady attention for several months. The courthouse was closed Saturday afternoon, but they managed to find a deputy county clerk who issued them a license.

Armed with the precious document the happy couple sought the nearest magistrate, who proved to be Justice Young. The justice was busy moving his office, and was in his shirt sleeves. A wedding is a mere incident with Justice Young. In the days' work and without waiting to put on his coat, quickly tied the knot and in five minutes Miss Heady left the office Mrs. Pancoast.

The affair which brought Mrs. Pancoast before the public last summer caused much talk at the time. She did not think she had been treated right by Arnold C. Cordes, the grandson of George C. Coblesien, the wealthy brewer, and almost frightened the wits out of Cordes and his young wife by doing midnight detective stunts at their home on West Thirty-ninth street, causing them to call in the aid of the police.

Cordes declared that his only interest in the young woman was his effort to assist a friend against whom she made claims of a pecuniary nature.

The young woman insisted that Cordes' interests were distinctly personal.

THE CALL OF CONDOLENCE.

To call on a person, either an acquaintance or a very intimate friend, after a death has occurred in the family, is a very hard thing for most people, says the Washington Times. They do not seem to know what to do or say. One should call in person and make kindly inquiries for the family and leave a card, but should not ask to see those in trouble unless a very near and dear acquaintance permits.

For a very close friend to send out flowers with your card is very sweet, but it is very much nicer to take them yourself.

When leaving your card, a visiting "Condolence" written upon it should be left in person if possible. If out of town, it should be sent by mail with letter of condolence. Only most intimate and dear friends should send letters.

FINDS HUSBAND THROUGH NOTE

Girl Buries Letter in Can; Man Finds It After 12 Years; Weds Her.

LEAD, S. D., Jan. 12.—A few weeks ago Benjamin Hurst, a young prospector, unearthed in the Black Hills west of here a rusty tin can containing a note scribbled in pencil by Miss Julia Demming and buried by her twelve years ago.

As a result of the finding of the note, Hurst and Miss Demming are soon to be married. The note, written and buried in a spirit of fun by Miss Demming, read:

"Whoever finds this note will please the writer of it by advising her that he has unearthed it. Her address is Portland, Or. JULIA DEMMING."

Hurst promptly wrote the young lady that he had found the note. A week or two later he received an answer to his letter, written at Seattle, the present home of Miss Demming.

He wrote her again, she replied, and thus was begun a correspondence which grew into friendship, resulting finally in love and an engagement. Hurst is a young gold seeker who has spent the greater part of his life in the Western mountains.

TRAIN CHILDREN TO WORK.

All children should be given some work to do, says the Philadelphia Inquirer, some trivial duty to perform regularly, and they should be taught to do it willingly and without whimpering. Train your children to wait upon themselves, and to keep their toys and playthings tidy and in their proper places.

It is a good plan to teach them to play with one toy at a time, and when that is tired of, to replace it before a fresh one is taken. Then, instead of a litter of things to be tidied, and put away at bed time, or when the little one has tired of playing, there is simply one toy that can be quickly cleared away.

When a child returns from a walk, teach him to put his outdoor garments neatly away in the place allotted to them. This early training will be of great use to him as he grows older, and help to form and strengthen his character.

FOUND DEAD IN HOME, WIDOW OF 66 IS HELD

After Forty-Four Years' Married Life, She Says, They Had a Hard Fight That Was Fatal.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—On suspicion of having caused the death of her husband, John Connelly, the 66-year-old widow was locked up last night in the West Sixty-eighth street police station. Her husband was found dead in his home, and it is believed by the police that he died of a fractured skull and that the injuries that caused his death were received in his own home.

Connelly, who was 60 years old, was formerly watchman at the St. Nicholas rink. With his wife he had lived for the past five years in two rooms in the basement of 311 West Sixtieth street. The pair are known to have quarreled a great deal lately.

Children at 1 o'clock yesterday told Policeman Waltzfelder that there was trouble in the basement and that some one had committed suicide. Some said they had seen an old man and an old woman fighting. The policeman went to the basement door. The old woman opened it, said he had no business coming there and shut the door in his face.

The same policeman at 5 o'clock was approached by a man named Kennedy, who said he had just come from the Connelly house and that the old man was very sick. The policeman went back with him. One glance showed that the man was dead. There was a wound over the right eye and one on the center of the forehead. Mrs. Connelly, who was busy at the cupboard, said she had had a fight with him and that after he beat her she went to the rear room to sleep.

When a physician arrived he said the man had been dead for hours. The body was sent to the morgue and Mrs. Connelly arrested. She walked to the police station and went to a cell quietly, showing no particular grief over the death of the man who had lived with her for forty years.

DEATH PREVENTS REUNION OF MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

New York Woman Had Not Seen Her Child for Thirty Years—Stricken in Railway Station.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Mrs. Sarah A. Lambert, stewardess of the steamship City of Atlanta of the Savannah line, died at St. Francis Hospital, Jersey City, on Saturday night, from apoplexy. She was stricken at the Pennsylvania railroad station, where she had gone to take a train for Bordentown, N. J., to her daughter, Mrs. E. P. Van Arthur, whom she had not seen for thirty years.

The daughter was brought up in the family of a distant relative after the death of her father, in 1875, and their whereabouts was unknown to Mrs. Lambert until about a month ago.

The daughter was notified, but reached the hospital after her mother's death.

BRIDE WANTED STAMPS

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Hearing that Justice of the Peace Charles Sweeney gave trading stamps with marriages, Mrs. Mattie M. Derby (nee Valine) of No. 94 Lafayette place, Brooklyn, and Lawyer Robert I. Irons of Brooklyn, who says he lives now at the Court House hotel, Jersey City, called at the judge's office in the Court House, Jersey City, yesterday, and were married. When the knot was tied Mrs. Irons asked for trading stamps. The judge said the only stamps he gave were kisses on the bride's cheek. He was allowed two and a good fee.

Greed Causes a Great Calamity.

According to the report of the coroner's inquest into the causes of the fatal explosion of the furnace of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company at Pittsburg, the greed of the corporation for gain was at the bottom of the trouble. For two weeks prior to the accident it had been known to the management that the furnace was not in good working order. The nature and danger of the disorder and the remedy for it were also known. Notwithstanding the great peril to which the company's employees were exposed, rather than shut down the furnace for a time to give their men an opportunity to meet the rush of orders, with the result, according to the testimony of one witness, that nine-tenths of the 2500 Hungarian workmen employed were either killed or injured.

The great number of foreigners employed at the works is in itself significant. It is very plain that the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, like many other of the large corporate industries of Pennsylvania has imported the cheap contract laborers of Southern Europe in order to fortify itself against industrial troubles, and that possibly with very little regard to the amount of expert knowledge possessed by them. The fact that these men were operating a furnace when the chances that it might explode were equal to those it might survive indicates a large degree of ignorance of the character of their occupation, for expert workmen would in all probability have forced the management to shut down the furnace for repairs. Men do not voluntarily take the chances of life and death where they have no special personal interest at stake.

The fact that so many Hungarians were employed at the works and were victims of the explosion has started an official inquiry on the part of the Austro-Hungarian government. This indicates that most of these cheap laborers of the steel company were not even citizens of the United States, and that there is a possibility of an international complication growing out of the incident, if it can be proved that the management of the works and not the men tending the furnace was responsible for the explosion, which is in substance the findings of the deputy coroner who made an official investigation. That management evidently held human life cheaply, but that is all the stronger reason why it should be held responsible for the consequences and suffer the penalty.

Another of Pittsburg's steel millionaires, namely, W. H. Donner, has gone wrong in his domestic relations, and his wife has been forced to seek relief in the divorce court. Evidently the standard of morality among the rich men whose fortunes Carnegie helped to create is very low. Corey and Donner are simply typical examples, only in the case of Donner a pretty governess and not a seductive actress was the one who lured him from the path of rectitude. The result has been the same, however, in both cases. Uppertendency in Pittsburg is becoming scandalously notorious.

The glowing tributes which have been paid to the memory of the late Archbishop Montgomery prove that no matter what a man's religious belief may be if during life he showed himself by word and deed to be a good man, the representatives of all creeds and social conditions will join to do the last honors to his name as a just recognition of his moral and civic worthiness and the value of the example which his life set to his fellowmen.

If the scarcity of coal and the high prices ruling in the market are due entirely to the manipulations of a coal combine, the shivering people of the bay cities are not likely to wait for the dilatory report of any legislative commission that may be appointed to look into the subject, but are likely to take a shorter course to secure relief. The fuel famine, for the creation of which some such combine is said to have been responsible, is making people desperate, and the unusually long period of cold and wet weather is aggravating the situation.

METROPOLITAN OAKLAND.

Oakland is fast becoming metropolitan in thought and habit. It is taking on the airs of a metropolis as though there were no large cities within a hundred miles of her. Of course, the loyal and boosting Oaklander will tell you that Oakland was always metropolitan and that it always wore the clothes of a metropolis. But we know differently, and so does any one who has known Oakland for very long. A few years ago you could no more arouse the interest in New Year's eve which was manifested last Monday night by the carnival crowd which thronged the principal thoroughfares, than you could bring a bolt of lightning from a cloudless sky. It was almost as good as San Francisco on that night, and the city which can approach the metropolis on New Year's eve is a long way from being asleep.

One of the positive signs that Oakland is preparing to take her position among the great cities of the Pacific Coast is the attention which is being paid to its external improvement. When you see a people trying to beautify the city in which they live and which they delight to call home you may make up your mind that they want to see it grow. To induce growth and expansion people must be brought from the outside. To bring people from the outside there must be attractions. There is always a large population looking for a place to make its home. That which affords the most beauty and convenience will be the first to attract notice. It is in this particular feature that the towns of Southern California have excelled their northern neighbors and have drawn to them the wealth, beauty and culture of the nation.

Oakland can do what Southern California has accomplished if it will. Its natural beauty transcends the beauty of any city south of the Tehachapi. Besides its interior, luxuriance and fertility, it has a bay which stretches out into the Pacific Ocean. It is the center of one of the most productive valleys of the State and the mart for a wide territory. What it needs—or what it needed for many years—was more of the spirit which has built Los Angeles and made it the magnificent metropolis it is today. While Oakland revels in its lethargy and indifference Los Angeles was working night and day. Now Oakland is going to work and show Los Angeles a few things in the art of building which will make the southern metropolis green with envy. She has our best wishes. Los Angeles has held the limelight long enough. We shall be glad to look upon the Alameda metropolis for a while. Our best wishes to Oakland for a year of growth and expansion.—Grass Valley Tidings.

We have a brother in our church who belonged to several other denominations before he came to us, and he tells up they have the same trouble everywhere; impossible to get a $2000 preacher for $750 a year.—Osborne (Kan.) Farmer.

San Francisco Harbor Improvements.

W. J. Barnett, the vice-president of the Western Pacific Railroad Company, has suggested that the State should bond itself to the tune of $25,000,000 to improve the dockage facilities of San Francisco bay. The suggestion might have merit if it were not proposed to limit the expenditure exclusively to the reconstruction of the wharves along the water front of San Francisco which were damaged or destroyed by the April earthquake and the erection of new wharves there and nowhere else.

If the State is to incur a large indebtedness which must be redeemed out of the general revenues, the money must be disbursed where it can accomplish the greatest general good in the shortest time. Possibly San Pedro might lay a strong claim for a share of the money raised from such a bonding scheme for the creation of State docks on its water front. However, the State has large water front interests on this side of the bay which will have the strongest claim for improvement, if a big bonded indebtedness is to be created for the development of State docks and wharves. In fact, there is no part of the water front of San Francisco bay and no section of the ocean frontage of the Pacific Coast where the facilities for the world's commerce can be so quickly, cheaply and extensively produced as on the water front of Oakland. Facilities can be produced for shipping on this side of the bay in two years which it will take ten or twenty years to develop on the western bay shore; and whether the State or private or corporate effort assumes the task, it ought to be encouraged as a matter of the most vital interest to not only Oakland but to the State at large, and to the nation generally, insofar as the maintenance and development of the commerce of the Pacific concerns it.

THE TRIBUNE PRINTS STRAIGHT NEWS.

Oakland may or may not outstrip San Francisco in the race for supremacy, but it is very evident that Oakland will ere long lead in the newspaper industry. We would be sorry to see San Francisco, as a city, fall back, but we cannot help noting with gratification the advent of a better representative journalism for this section of the country. A good metropolitan daily newspaper, one which would give the news fully and truthfully, and discuss public questions without bias, has long been needed here. The San Francisco papers, for many years, have been mere organs, reflecting the interests of their proprietors or of favored political factions or social sets. There has been no real independent newspaper, in the broad sense, until recently, when THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE, seeing its opportunity, branched out and made a bold bid to fill the vacancy. It is now unquestionably the best and most reliable journal issued in central California; not only does it give more local, State, national and foreign news than any of its contemporaries, but it does not "doctor" its news. Even San Franciscans who wish to be correctly informed are beginning to read THE TRIBUNE regularly as a matter of necessity.—The British-Californian.

The Christmas edition of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE is a splendid number and will compare favorably with any in the State. THE TRIBUNE has made wonderful progress in the past year, and now ranks foremost in the California newspaper field.—Martinez Standard.

ROOSEVELT REVIEWS BROWNSVILLE OUTRAGE; STANDS BY HIS ORDER

The Negro Troopers Not Barred From All Civil Service Under Government, but May Not Re-Enlist.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Following is the text of the special message sent today by President Roosevelt to the Senate, regarding the discharge of three companies of the Twenty-fifth Infantry:

To the Senate:

In my message to the Senate treating of the dismissal, without honor, of certain members of the three companies of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, I gave the reports of the officers upon which the dismissal was based. These reports were made in accordance with the custom in such cases, for it would, of course, be impossible to preserve discipline in the army save by pursuing precisely the course that in this case was pursued. Inasmuch, however, as in the Senate the question was raised as to the sufficiency of the evidence, I deemed it wise to send Major Blockson and Captain Attorney General Taft to Brownsville to make investigation on the ground in reference to the matter. I herewith submit the report of the investigation, also various exhibits, including maps of Brownsville and Fort Brown, photographs of various buildings, a letter from Judge Parks to his wife, together with a handwritten list of the names of the troops who were in the barracks on the night of August 15, 1906, several of which were picked up in the streets of Brownsville within a few hours after the shooting; three steel-jacketed bullets and some scraps of the casings of other bullets picked out of the houses in which they had been fired. A telegram from United States Commissioner H. B. Creager at Brownsville announces that six additional bullets—taken from the buildings in Brownsville and supporting affidavits, have since been sent to the Secretary of War.

CRIMES COMMITTED.

It appears from the testimony that on the night of August 15, 1906, several crimes were committed by some persons in the city of Brownsville. Among these were the following:

(a) The murder of Frank Natus.
(b) The assault, with intent to kill, the Lieutenant of police, Dominguez, whose horse was killed under him, and the man and woman, Mr. and Mrs. Odin, and their little boys, as they stood in the window of the Miller Hotel.
(c) The shooting into several private residences of the city of Brownsville, three of them containing women and children.
(d) The shooting at and slightly wounding of Frecedo.
(e) The shooting at and slightly wounding of Frecedo.

As to the motive for the commission of the crimes it appears that trouble of a more or less serious kind had occurred between individual members of the companies and individuals of the citizens of Brownsville, culminating in complaints which resulted in the soldiers being confined within the limits of the garrison on the evening of the day in question.

TROOPERS GUILTY.

The evidence, as will be seen, shows beyond any possibility of honest question that some individual among the colored troops whom I had dismissed, committed the outrages mentioned; and that some or all of the other individuals whom I dismissed, had knowledge of the deed and shielded from the law those who committed it.

The only move suggested as possibly influencing anyone else was a desire to get rid of the colored troops, so strong that it impelled the citizens of Brownsville to shoot up their own houses, to kill one of their own number, to assault their own police, wounding the lieutenant, who had been an officer for twenty years—all with the purpose of discrediting the negro troops. The suggestion is on its face so ludicrously impossible that it is difficult to treat it as honestly made. This theory supposes that the assaults succeeded in obtaining the uniforms of the negro soldiers; that before starting on their raid they got over the fence of the fort unchallenged and without discovery by the negro troops, opened fire on the town from within the fort; that they blacked their faces so that the citizens, eye-witnesses mistook them for negroes; that they disguised their voices so that at least six witnesses who heard them speak mistook their voices as being those of negroes. They were not Mexicans, for (in letters heard by various witnesses to speak in English. The weapons they used were Springfield rifles, for the ammunition which they used, was that of the Springfield rifle and no other, and could not have been used in any gun in Texas or any part of the Union or in Mexico, or any other part of the world, save only in the Springfield now used by the United States troops, including the negro troops in the garrison at Brownsville, and by other persons save these troops—a weapon which had only been in use by the United States troops for some four or five months prior to the shooting in question, and which is not in the possession of private individuals. The cartridges used will go into no other rifle used in the United States when especially chambered—the Winchester of the '95 model—but it will rarely if ever go off when in it; and, moreover, the bullets were not of the kind in question, and if nothing of the kind in the world. This of itself establishes the fact that the assaults were United States soldiers, and would be conclusive on this point if not one soldier had been seen or heard by any resident in Brownsville on the night in question, and if nothing were known save the finding of the shells, clips and bullets.

Fourteen eye witnesses, namely, Charles R. Chase, Amador Martinez, Mrs. Kate Leahy, Palermo Presidio.

Ynaglo Dominguez, Macedonio Ramirez, George W. Randall, Jose Martinez, J. P. McDonald, F. H. Sanborn, Herbert Ekins, Hale Odin, Mrs. Hale Odin and Judge Parks, testified that they saw the assaults or some of them at varying distances, and that they were negro troops, most of the witnesses giving their testimony in such shape that there is no possibility of their having been mistaken. Two other witnesses, Jose Bodin and General Padron, saw some of the assaults and testified that they were soldiers (the only soldiers in the neighborhood being colored troops). Four other witnesses, namely S. C. Moore, Dr. Thorn, Charles S. Scandano and Charles E. Hammond, testified to hearing the shooting and hearing the voices of the men who were doing it, and that these voices were those of negroes, but did not actually see the men who were doing the shooting. About twenty-five other witnesses gave testimony corroborating to a greater or less degree the testimony of those who thus saw the shooters or heard them. The testimony of these and the eye witnesses would establish beyond all possibility of contradiction the fact that the shooting was committed by ten or fifteen or more of the troops from the garrison, and this testimony of theirs would be amply sufficient in itself if a cartridge or bullet had not been found, exactly as the bullets and cartridges that were found would have established the guilt of the troops even had not a single eye witness seen them.

FIRE FROM FORT.

The testimony of the witnesses on the position of the bullet holes show the fifteen or twenty of the negro troops gathered inside the fort, and that the first shots fired into the town were fired from within the fort; some of them at least from the upper gallery of the barracks.

The testimony further shows that the troops came out over the walls, some of them perhaps going through the gate and advanced a distance of 300 yards or thereabouts into the town. During their advance they shot into two houses and some rifle shots into other houses. Three of the private houses into which they fired contained women and children. They deliberately killed Frank Natus, the bartender, and shot down from a distance of about fifteen yards, the man and woman, Mr. and Mrs. Odin, and their little boys, as they stood in the window of the Miller Hotel, the bullet going less than two inches from the head of the woman. They shot down the lieutenant of police, who was on horseback, killing his horse and wounding him so that his arm had to be amputated.

They attempted to kill the two policemen who were his companions, shooting one through the hat. They shot at least eight bullets into the Cowen house, putting out the lights and burning the room table. Mrs. Cowen and her five children were in the house, and they at once threw two bottles of kerosene oil and were not hit. They fired into the

HOW THEY SQUIRMED

Great Times When Children Had to Take Old-Fashioned Cod Liver Oil and Emulsions.

You had to bribe them, hold their noses, in fact go through a regular circus to get them to take it.

That was years ago, before the two eminent French chemists, Mergues and Gautier, discovered how to separate the medicinal elements of the cod's liver from the useless, nauseating oil, and produced Vinol.

Vinol is not a patent medicine but a real cod liver preparation containing in a highly concentrated form all of the body-building, strength creating elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers with all the useless oil eliminated and tonic force added. It tastes fine and children love it. Wherever old-fashioned cod liver oil or emulsions will do good, Vinol will do far more good.

Mr. Specht of The Owl Drug Co. says:

"It is because we know so well of what Vinol is made that we ask every mother who has a weak, delicate or ailing child and in fact every run-down, debilitated, aged or weak person in Fall River, and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging-on coughs or bronchitis to try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it fails."—The Owl Drug Co.

NOTE.—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Oakland, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

Stark house, the bullets going through the mosquito bar of a bed from 18 to 20 inches above where little children were sleeping.

PANIC WAS GREAT.

The shooting took place near midnight. The panic caused by the utterly unexpected attack was great. The darkness, of course, increased the confusion. There is conflict of testimony on some of the minor points, but every essential point is established beyond possibility of honest question. The careful examination of Mr. Purdy, assistant to the Attorney General, resulted merely in strengthening the reports already made by the regular army authorities. The shooting, it appears, occurred about ten minutes, although it may have been some minutes more or less. It is out of the question that the fifteen or twenty men engaged in the assault could have gathered behind the wall of the fort, begun firing, some of them on the porches of the barracks, gone out into the town, fired in the neighborhood of 200 shots in the town, and then returned—the total time occupied from the time of the first shot to the time of their return being some where in the neighborhood of ten minutes—their return being some where in the neighborhood of ten minutes. The facts do not make sense, and it is likely that there were few if any of the soldiers dismissed who could have been ignorant of what occurred. It is well-nigh impossible that any of the non-commissioned officers who were at the barracks should not have known what occurred.

ORDER REVOKED.

The evidence thus taken to question in my opinion, impossible to question the conclusion upon which my order was based. I have gone most carefully over every fact of law and fact that has been raised. I am now satisfied that the effect of my order dismissing these men without honor was to deprive them from all civil employment under the government, and therefore, that the part of the order which consisted of a declaration to this effect was lacking in validity, and I have directed that such portion be revoked. As to the rest of the order dismissing the individuals in question without honor and declaring the effect of such discharge under the law and regulations to be that they were to be forever ineligible to be in the army or the navy, there is no doubt of my constitutional and legal power. The order was within my discretion under the constitution and the laws, and cannot be reviewed or reversed save by an executive order. The facts did not make sense, and it is likely that there were few if any of the soldiers dismissed who could have been ignorant of what occurred. It is well-nigh impossible that any of the non-commissioned officers who were at the barracks should not have known what occurred.

Right Reverend M. C. Harris, missionary bishop of the Methodist church in Japan and Korea, delivered an address yesterday morning at the First Methodist church on "Triumphs of Christianity in Japan and Korea."

Bishop Harris was in charge of the Japanese mission work on this coast and in Hawaii after several years as a missionary in Japan. In 1910 he was chosen missionary bishop of the Orient. He has been assisting in the union of the Japanese Methodist churches in that country. He was in conference with President Roosevelt and Secretary Root on the Japanese question. Rev. H. L. Boardman, pastor of the Pacific Union Methodist church, has conducted a series of Sunday evening discourses to the young men of his congregation. His subjects are:

"Confidence and Faith," "A Young Man Who Dropped a Quarter of a Million for Duty's Sake," "Life Insurance for a Youth," "Informal Men Who Vended and Lost," "Heroes in Character," "A Famous 'Eleven' of Long Ago," "The Place That Kills," "A Young Man Who Liked Part of Being a Boy," "Scandalous Life Well Begun not Surely Well Done."

SCENIC PRODUCTION AT THE MACDONOUGH
The big scenic production of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," in play form, will be seen here tonight and all week at the Macdonough theater. This engagement will attract more than ordinary interest because the famous novel of the same name, from which the play is taken, became recognized at once when it came out over five years ago as "the best new England story ever written," and has continued to be known ever since as one of the best selling books in the country. Like father, like son, they say, and so it is in this case. Critics are now saying of "Quincy Adams Sawyer" in play form that it is "the best new England play ever written."

TRAINS WILL CROSS THE BAY

S. P. Rushes Work on New Freight Yards at Dumbarton Point.

Work on the Dumbarton bridge and at Visitation Bay, where the new freight yard of the Southern Pacific will be located, is being pushed vigorously. When the yard is ready it will be among the best equipped in the country.

Some years ago the Southern Pacific purchased Visitation Cove outright and the corporation has been engaged in filling it in with the earth that was taken from the five tunnels of the Bay Shore Cut-off through the Mission hills.

Visitation Cove was in the form of a semicircle and contained about 200 acres, which are being reclaimed with mud lifted by electric dredges in addition to the earth from the tunnels. As soon as the new cut-off is built the yard, rapid shops and roundhouses will be removed to this point and all freight trains will be made up and coaches cleaned there, and a new and thriving city will be brought into existence. It is some six miles from the city, and land in the vicinity of the proposed yard is being held at a premium already.

CROSS BAY BY TRAIN.
When the bridge at Dumbarton Point is completed Visitation Bay will have added importance from the fact that trains, the run of which ended formerly in Oakland, will cross the bay by the bridge instead of the ferry. There will be fifty miles of siding in the yard, which is to be about 8400 feet long, from the limits on the south to the portal of the large tunnel on the north. The yard space is 1800 feet wide from the seawall, at the main tracks of the Bay Shore Cut-off, to the company's property line on the west. Five hundred feet north of the half mile above ordinary high tide, the main freight space is laid out for thirty-eight tracks. At the south end, just west of the main tracks, are seven tracks, with a capacity of fifty cars each, for the southbound dispatching yard, and the same number of tracks for the northbound dispatching yard. Further north are fourteen storage tracks, with a total capacity of 472 cars. At the north end of the yard are eighteen classification tracks.

PILES BEING LAIN.
Work is being done on the pile foundations for the shops and other buildings in the yard. All are to have concrete foundations on piles, with brick and steel superstructures. There will be a power house from which steam pipes are run for use on the locomotives, but there is to be no steam heat in the buildings. Near the south end of the yard is a coal bunker 600 feet long, and five hundred feet north of this and extending northward are the following buildings: A forty-stall roundhouse, the center of which is 1250 feet west of the main track of the Bay Shore Cut-off; the power house, 313x87.5 feet, with a capacity of 1000 horsepower; a machine shop and erecting shop, 258x437.5 feet, one-half to be built at once and the remainder later. Eighty feet south of the machine shop is a transfer pit, 70x481 feet. Space is also reserved for another machine shop and erecting shop for another transfer table. Other structures are a carpenter shop, 45x150 feet, and a car repair shop, 185x270 feet, with an adjoining painting shop, 100x150 feet. In connection with this, there is provision for twenty-four freight car repair tracks.

MEN'S LEAGUE PLAN DINNER

Association of First Congregational Church to Be Addressed by Governor.

The Men's League of the First Congregational church will give a dinner in the Clay-street parlors of that church tomorrow night. The members will meet at the church at 6 o'clock and the dinner will be served at 6:30. Following dinner the subject of "Civil Betterment for Oakland" will be discussed. The program is as follows: The Present Use of Civil Betterment, Howel A. Powell Esq.; "How to Organize and Make Effective Oakland's Better Civil Service," Governor George C. Yare; "The Present Situation in Oakland; Its Dangers and Needs," Rev. Charles R. Brown.

ARE ROBBED BY STRANGERS

Gus Koegle and Philip Alvarado Victims of Their Own Kindness.

The police have received reports of two robberies, the victims being persons who had been philanthropic to the thieves.

Gus Koegle of 266A Ninth street found a man much in need of rest, and left the man there for a short time. Upon his return Koegle found that his guest had disappeared, taking with him a portion of his host's wardrobe, including a black suit and other garments.

Philip Alvarado, an employee of the E. B. & A. L. Stone Company at Alameda, came to Oakland Saturday looking for pleasure. He met an affable stranger and Alvarado proposed paying the expenses of a pleasure trip through the city. The invitation was accepted, but before the pleasure tour had been completed the stranger had relieved Alvarado of all his money. He has reported his loss to the police.

HELD UP AND ROBBED OF $55

John S. Meyers Tells of His Experience With Two Armed Thugs.

One of the boldest holdups in local police annals was that in which two robbers held up John S. Meyers of 1612 Twenty-third avenue in broad daylight Saturday afternoon where the tracks of the Southern Pacific Company cross the Key Route subway in Emeryville. Meyers related his experience to the police of this city, and claims that he was robbed of $55 at the points of two revolvers.

Meyers asserted that between 2 and 3 o'clock he met two men near the Junction Iron Works in Emeryville. They accosted him from behind and inquired as to his destination. Meyers replied that he was on his way to the Sixteenth street station, it being his intention to walk along the Southern Pacific tracks. The strangers accompanied him, and as they were crossing the subway one of them grabbed Meyers, and, pointing a revolver at his head, ordered him to keep quiet. The second highwayman, who also carried a revolver, ransacked Meyers' pockets and secured $55. He says that they then ordered him to proceed on his way and made their escape into Emeryville.

Meyers is a machinist and has resided here for three years.

It takes many forms: eczema, scrofula, pimples, sallow complexion, itching sores, anaemia (poor watery blood) are all a sign that your blood is in an unhealthy condition. The life of the body depends upon rich, pure blood, and the only way to become strong and well is to get at the root of the disease and remove the cause. SUGGESTION TO PHYSICIANS

(Berkeley Daily Reporter, Jan. 10.)

In view of the commonly accepted theories it seems to us that the following facts that are within the personal knowledge of the editor of this paper demand presentation to the people.

A few months ago we were advised that a child of a personal friend of the writer living in a San Joaquin Valley city had Bright's Disease and that the family physician who is also known to us gave the family no hope. We personally know the manager of the John J. Fulton Co., and suggested that he send literature of the Fulton Compound to the father of the patient.

It was sent. This was several months ago. We are now advised that the specific promptly took hold of the case and the improvement has been so marked that recovery is now imminent.

The family physician noted the unusual change in the case and wanted to know what had been done. Upon being told he stated that ordinarily he did not approve of proprietary preparations, but that the recovery was so remarkable that he advised by all means to go on with the treatment.

The authorities coincide in declaring chronic Bright's Disease an incurable disease. Do not the numerous recoveries under this treatment demand a new adjustment of our beliefs and a re-statement in conformity with the facts that will give the people the immediate advantage of this discovery?

This picture is from a recent photograph of President G. Stanley Hall of the Congo Reform Association who has been very active in raising American sentiment against the atrocities committed in the African jungles at the instance of the agents of King Leopold of Belgium, and who urges the United States to take the lead in intervening for the protection of the natives.

I SEE

that the patent medicine manufacturers whose products contain alcohol, are meeting the exactions of the pure food law by publishing a table of ingredients (the formula and other words) with percent-age of each element in the composition of their preparations. Well, would not that put you on the water wagon? Now, we will know about the percent-age of high wines, coal tar dopes and other narcotics we've been swigging with our "patents." It is patent to me that this will work a needed reform. I know one Tribune reader who will not hesitate to make an allment for a while, unless hunger and thirst are all that's left for me, in future, on all occasions.

JUGGLER IS THE WINTER CHAMPION

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 14.—The current meeting at City Park, which will end Saturday, has been conducted under unfavorable track conditions, but the sport in the main has been clean-cut and well backed first and second choices have won the majority of the events.

In the performances of last week that by Juggler, who lowered the track record in a mile handicap, stands out prominently and that horse is being ranked as the champion of the winter season. Juggler, however, is a patched-up cripple, but for which he might figure prominently on the Eastern tracks.

The Crescent and City Park Derbies, which are the culminating features of the local season, are attracting attention already. Just now it looks as if Burlew and O'Neill might have a strong hand in their five entries, including Gild and Judge Post. The doubtful quantity is furnished by Celia's Foville, which is being put into Derby condition at Montgomery Park.

FIVE HUNTS ARE ON CARD

The committee in charge of the events of the San Mateo County Hunt Club has planned five hunts for this month. The next meet has been scheduled to take place at Harry Howard's place on Wednesday. On the following Saturday the hounds will be let down at the sixteen-mile house, while on Wednesday, January 23, the hunt will start from the clubhouse of the Burlingame Country Club. The hounds will be let down at the trail at Red's School, Belmont, on Saturday, January 26. The last hunt of the month will be on the 30th, starting from D. O. Mills' gate. All of the hunts are programmed to begin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

JEROME WILL OPPOSE RACES

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—District Attorney Jerome has started a campaign to eliminate race betting in this State. He is in Albany today to ask the legislature to wipe out certain sections of the Penal Code law. In one bill he seeks to delete a fourth law to the section which says that the only penalty for bookmaking at the track shall be recovery of the bet by a civil suit. In another bill he proposes to amend the penal code so as to make bookmaking at the track or any other place a misdemeanor instead of a felony, the punishment to be not more than one year in the penitentiary or a fine of $500, or both.

RUBRIC CONTENDER IN THE MILE PURSE RACE TODAY

RUBRIC

TURF GOSSIP. By LEE DEMIER.

Bookmaker Jack Atkins writes from Ascot that the sharpshooters are gathering the coin.

Twenty-two books were in line at Ascot Park Saturday. George Rose's slate was among the missing ones.

I am pleased to learn that Jockey Johnny Mullman is riding in his old time form at Ascot. Keep it up, Johnny, you're far from being a dead one.

R. F. Carman, the millionaire New York horseman has purchased the son of Jockey J. Harris from W. A. McKinney for $2500.

James P. McElroy, a sporting man from Seattle is a late arrival at Ascot.

Owner A. Richmond has arrived at Ascot with Little Gregg and J. C. Clem.

Barney Schreiber has nominated the produce of twenty mares for the matron stakes of 1937.

Regarding the published statements to the effect that the racing season at Ascot Park is to be prolonged after March 13, the late Jockey J. Harris says that the season which says that the only penalty for bookmaking at the track shall be recovery of the bet by a civil suit.

In another bill he proposes to amend the penal code so as to make bookmaking at the track or any other place a misdemeanor instead of a felony, the punishment to be not more than one year in the penitentiary or a fine of $500, or both.

There is not the slightest prospect of an extension of the season at Ascot. Further than this I am aware of nothing to justify a conclusion that another race track is to be established in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

From 10:30 to 11:30 o'clock has been set as the time for schooling horses.

ACCOUNTANT WAS GREAT-EST ENGLISH TURF WINNER

Victories Last Season Netted His Owner $84,120, Not Including the Grand Prix.

"Statistics of the English racing season show that in Accountant the United States has the largest money-winner of the year," says a Canadian racing critic. "Accountant's aggregate in nine victories is $84,120, as against Speculator's $75,000, including his Grand Prix win. Leaving the French race out of Lord Derby's Oaks winner, Key- stone, I head the list in England with $55,000. The credit of winning over $50,000 is also held by three other runners—Trotter, Bridge of Candy (another of Lord Derby's), and Dinnford. It is rather remarkable that three horses, Ladis, sire of Mr. Seagram's stallion Crickdale, and Persimmon, sire of the same gentleman's Pershere. Meddler's produce have won nearly $150,000. Next to Go-Between's sire comes Voter—which, on a memorable occasion, succumbed to Mr. Seagram's Coburg—with over $94,000; Filigrane follows with $89,550; Hamburg with $87,400; Watercrest with $78,120; Hastings with $72,025; Ornament with $68,990; Ben Strone with $67,295; Belvidere with $61,095 and Woolsthorpe with $60,025. As usual, the imported stallions in the states have rather the best of the home-bred ones."

These figures indicate that there has been more equality among the leading sires during 1936 than for many years previously. Last season Gallinule, Ismailah, St. Prusquin and Cylindere stand ahead of the figures of Ladis and Persimmon this year, with a corresponding decrease in the winnings of those that followed.

"In the United States ten of the leading sires are credited with over $50,000 each, and the produce of nineteen are credited with over $40,000. Meddler, the leading American sire, runs quite a bit ahead of the English leaders, Ladis, sire of Mr. Seagram's stallion Crickdale, and Persimmon, sire of the same gentleman's Pershere. Meddler's produce have won nearly $150,000. Next to Go-Between's sire comes Voter—which, on a memorable occasion, succumbed to Mr. Seagram's Coburg—with over $94,000; Filigrane follows with $89,550; Hamburg with $87,400; Watercrest with $78,120; Hastings with $72,025; Ornament with $68,990; Ben Strone with $67,295; Belvidere with $61,095 and Woolsthorpe with $60,025. As usual, the imported stallions in the states have rather the best of the home-bred ones."

YALE TO GIVE UP HARVARD GAMES?

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Dispatches from New Haven state that a recent visit there of Alonzo A. Stagg, the University of Chicago athletic director, and a visit to Chicago which Walter Camp, Yale's athletic advisor, is now making, is responsible for a report that Yale may meet Chicago at football in case Harvard cannot play.

Among the Yale players, the undergraduate body and the alumni here the idea of a game is received with enthusiasm. It is conceded, of course, that if Harvard retains football a contest will not be arranged with Chicago, but otherwise a majority of Yale men favor replacing the crimson with the maroon.

The drawback to the scheme is that the faculty is by no means unanimous in favoring it. Some of the professors think that one big game is enough and that if Harvard draws out the Princeton match should show be Yale's big game.

FIGHTERS ARE BOTH UNDER WEIGHT

VALLEJO, Jan. 14.—Billy Smallham and Tim Callahan, who will meet here in a twenty-round boxing match to-night, have arrived in town and both look fit. Sunday afternoon they worked out before two big crowds, and afterward were examined by the club physician. Each is under the weight, although Callahan did not reach the mark very easily. He went on the road yesterday in a wild storm of hail and snow and showed that he was in good condition.

There will be a late boat to San Francisco to accommodate more than 200 sports from that city who have already reserved seats for the contest.

Billy Martin of San Francisco will meet Jimmy Quinn in a four-round preliminary at 135 pounds. Eddie Shea of Crockett and Young Barilla of the Hawthorne Club of San Francisco will supply the other preliminary. Al Neill will act as referee.

GIRLS WILL ROW ON THE LAKE

The girls who before the April fire spent many of their leisure hours rowing on Stow Lake are again turning to this pastime. From the rowing headquarters on Lake Merritt, girls held their races, has come a challenge to the Stow Lake club. It is issued in the name of a picked team from Alameda, Oakland and Berkeley. The challenge virtually has been accepted and the San Francisco girls will begin training just as soon as the weather will permit. The contest will take place when the crews are in condition. It is to be for a silver cup.

PLANK BEST LEAGUE PITCHER

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Out of forty-eight pitchers who appeared last season in the games of the American League, only one, Laroy of New York, won all the games in which he appeared. This achievement, however, is not so creditable as it sounds, for the reason that he appeared in only two games.

Next to Laroy in games won is Plank of Philadelphia, who won nineteen games and lost six. While of Chicago, was third, with eighteen games won, six lost and one tie. Johns made the best showing for Cleveland, with twelve games won, nine lost and one tie. For Boston, the best showing was made by Tannehill, who carried nineteenth on the general list. He won thirteen games, lost eleven and pitched one tie game. The poorest showing was made by Harris of Boston, who pitched in twenty-three games out of which he won only two.

STORIES ABOUT A NOTED UMPIRE

Manager Lajoie has a fund of stories about Joe Cantillon's career as an umpire. Here are a couple: "Philadelphia was playing Washington one day and Win Mercer was pitching for the Senators. We scored about eight runs in the first four innings, when Cantillon, who was umpiring, happened to give Washington a walk. I heard a close decision at second base. As Cantillon came back to the pitcher's box, Mercer protested against the decision. 'I suppose, Joe, you gave it as you saw it, but to see the play properly you were in the wrong position.'"

"Judging from the looks of the score board, Win, you have been in the wrong position ever since the game started," retorted Joe.

"Another day Joe put Harry Davis out of the game and Davis at once slammed his glove on the bench and started to follow it. 'Come back here, yelled Cantillon. 'Get your glove and get back to first base. You are too blasé willing to quit.'"

"Joe during his last year as an umpire entertained a grudge against Lew Criger. We were playing at Boston one day, and with Joe umpiring. It was agreed that in one of a line drive going along the foul line the catcher then working should call whether it went foul or fair, inasmuch as the umpire when standing behind the pitcher, could not get a good view of the game. Fultz led off with a single and Dick Cooley followed with a three-bagger along the right foul line. Fultz scored and as Cooley pulled up at third Criger yelled 'foul.' 'Well, that settled it. We failed to score and Boston won in the fourth inning. But that night the Boston right fielder and Nig Cuppy told Cantillon that the ball was hit a foot and a half fair. He never forgave Criger and I'll bet Criger never drew anything but strikes when he was at bat and Cantillon was umpiring. One day Criger made an awful kick about a strike that Cantillon called on him, but all the satisfaction he received was this shot: 'It was a foul ball, was it?'"

"Won't you ever forget that?" asked Criger.

"No, in 1000 years," replied Cantillon.

FIERCE CONTEST RESULTS IN DRAW

Vampires Score Victory Over San Francisco at Alameda.

Vampires	3 2 3 0 15 8 6
San Francisco	2 0 6 0 3 24 0

One of the most bitterly fought games of association football ever seen here resulted in a tied score yesterday afternoon. When the Hornets and the Albion Rovers met at the field at the sound of the final whistle each team had one goal to its credit.

A shower immediately preceding the game, following those in the morning, converted the lower end of the field into a morass, through which the players struggled as best they could. A dozen pools of water served to intercept the ball after enough to confuse the best players. In spite of all drawbacks, the intense rivalry existed in periods when the play was as fast and individual and team work as brilliant as any seen here in recent seasons.

In the first half neither side tallied. The ball alternated regularly from one end of the field to the other and each goalkeeper had plenty of opportunities to win plaudits with frequent saves. McRitchie, for the Hornets, especially was prominent and his defensive work was of high order.

In the second period McLaughlin distinguished himself by the part he took in the Hornets' offensive tactics, and the exhibition of footwork which he gave won him a place among the best players of the league. Opposed to him was McLeod, and the meetings of the pair were followed with the keenest attention. McLeod's injured knee handicapped him to an extent that gave McLaughlin a slight advantage.

Time was called when Jake Smith sprained an ankle in the middle of the half. It was feared he had broken a bone when he was carried from the field, but a subsequent examination showed his injury to be more painful than serious.

Shortly after the resumption of play McKenzie drove a fine shot into the net and the Hornets regarded the game as won. The Rovers, however, began to put up their best article of ball. They gave Goalkeeper Ritchie plenty to do and after two narrow saves McLeod booted the waterlogged ball past him and tied up the score.

The remaining portion of the game was marked by much bickering between players. Several times fights appeared imminent, but the rowdiness was checked before the belligerents came to blows.

The teams line up as follows:

Hornets	Positions	Rovers
McRitchie	Goal	Marra
Gors	L. B.	Dingwall
Wabster	R. B.	McLaughlin

LAUCK ACCEPTS RESIGNATIONS

Backed by Governor Gillett, He Allows Col. Kelley and Staff to Retire.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—Adjutant General Lauck showed the sterling stuff of which he is made today by accepting the resignation of six officers of the First Regiment of Infantry, N. G. C., of San Francisco, which were tendered a few days ago.

The officers in question threatened to resign some weeks ago if Companies A and H of that command, which had been summarily discharged from the service by Adjutant General Lauck, for incompetency and unsoldierly conduct were not reinstated in the service.

LAUCK REFUSED TO RECEDE.

Adjutant General Lauck refused to recede from the stand he had taken. He also refused to discuss in the papers the question of a threat made by subordinates, and accordingly those making the threat tendered their resignations as officers of the First, and today they will receive notice of the fact that they are no longer members of the National Guard.

It has been published in many papers that all the officers of the First, outside those who had been dismissed with companies A and H had resigned. But such is not the case. Only six officers tendered their resignations, the colonel and five members of his staff.

There are still six companies of the Eighth, formerly in the regiment, and all the officers of those companies together with the lieutenant colonel and one major are still connected with the command.

THOSE WHO RESIGNED.

The officers who resigned are as follows: Colonel Walter N. Kelley, Major John F. Eggert, Captain John W. Duffy, adjutant Thomas W. Costello, commissary Captain Joseph P. McQuade, chaplain; Second Lieutenant Andrew H. Clifford, battalion quartermaster and commissary.

MOREAGH SUCCEEDS KELLEY.

In the general orders accepting Colonel Kelley's resignation, there was a paragraph notifying that officer that Lieutenant Colonel Thomas W. Costello would succeed him, and that Kelley was instructed to transfer the property and command to Moreagh without delay after the receipt of the order in question.

GENERAL LAUCK'S POSITION.

"The resignation of six officers of the First have been accepted. No more resignations were presented. It is the fact that all the officers of the regiment have resigned. It is the wrong idea to think that people cannot be got along without," said General Lauck to THE TRIBUNE correspondent.

"There has been something said in the papers about my having trouble with some of the officers. I have had no controversy with them through the press. Why, if there was an officer in the guard who was a good soldier, even though he and I might not be personal friends, I would be glad to appreciate his merit as an officer and a soldier."

HAS SUPPORT OF GOVERNOR.

"We must have discipline in the guard and we are going to have it, if anything that I can do with the considerable support of the governor. I have told me that he looks to me to conduct this department of the state government, and I am satisfied that I shall be sustained in all that is reasonable."

"What is the use of a guard which is a guard in name only. I tell you that I shall not agree to the paying out of a dollar for the expense of companies which exist only on paper. "If the business men would only give us support, their sympathy, I do not mean financial assistance. It would help us a great deal. The time may come—I pray it may be distant—when we may have trouble, and then the merchants will cry for assistance, but without their support, how and continued, what is the use of having a guard? These same men refuse to allow young men to join the guard because they say it takes them away at times."

In this connection, Adjutant General Lauck told the correspondent that his estimate of the expense of the National Guard for the next two years was $405,100, and that he would ask the present legislature to make an appropriation of that amount of money. This includes $35,000 which the adjutant general provides for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the National Guard in the event of its going into camp for the purpose of taking part in maneuvers with regulars some time next summer.

Adjutant General Lauck has reappointed clerk; J. Alexander, record clerk; J. M. Milliken, financial and property clerk; H. D. Van Horn, record clerk; Miss Alice Coughlin, stenographer; Joseph Baqueler, armorer.

GOVERNOR'S STAFF RESIGN

Adjutant General Notices Members to Forward Notes to Governor.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—All the members of the staff of ex-Governor Pardee will be expected to tender their resignations immediately so as to leave Gov. Gillett to reappoint or dispense with their services as he may desire.

In order that there may be no doubt in this matter, Adjutant General Lauck who has been retained in his position by Governor Gillett, has notified every member of the staff that his resignation is to be handed in to the Governor and is to be the earliest possible moment.

NOT ACCORDING TO PRECEDENT.

One adjutant-general told THE TRIBUNE correspondent he was afraid to summon the staff of the Governor under whom he acted to escort the chief executive to the capitol, for the reason that he feared not a third of the staff officer had cared enough for the position to invest in the uniform of their several ranks.

At that time, a staff uniform was not very expensive but it is said it now costs $500 to enable a staff officer to appear presentable in the several uniforms included in a full equipment.

A WORKING STAFF

The attendance of officers of the staff of Governor Gillett was the largest ever witnessed on such an occasion in this city. Governor Gillett undoubtedly looked upon their presence as a compliment to himself as well as a duty of the retiring governor and will doubtless bear in mind those officers when forming his own staff.

APPROVED BY GOVERNOR.

The action of Adjutant General Lauck in informing staff members of Governor Pardee that they would be expected to resign has been approved by Governor Gillett and a quick response will undoubtedly be the result. It is expected that several members of the organization will be re-appointed and it is said among those would have been C. D. Crowley, surgeon-general of Oakland.

DR. CROWLEY WILL RETIRE.

But THE TRIBUNE correspondent has been reliably informed that Dr. Crowley would be obliged to resign re-appointment, if it should be tendered to him, because of the engagements of his private business.

Dr. Crowley raised the standing of the surgical and medical department of the National Guard during his connection with it, and he has fastened himself to the adjutant-general. He can now return to private life with the consciousness that his loyalty, devotion and professional services have been well proven and appreciated by those who were interested and with whom he has associated.

BATTLE OVER FREIGHT RATES

City of Spokane Charges Railroads With Unjust Discrimination.

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 14.—A battle over freight rates, the result of which may affect wholesale centers all over the nation, began at the court house here this morning before Interstate Commerce Commissioner Charles A. Prouty and Franklin K. Lane. It is the suit of the city of Spokane, the Chamber of Commerce and the Spokane Jobbers Association against the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific, the O. R. & N. and allied railway lines. A complaint was filed charging discrimination in freight rates, in that rates on goods shipped from Eastern points to Spokane are based on the rates from the coast to the Pacific Coast plus the return rate from the coast to Spokane. The shippers of this city contend that it is unjust to have goods in this city that have to haul them through Spokane and 400 miles further to the coast. The railway companies contend that the lower rate is justified by the danger that water competition would threaten the traffic. It is also contended that to adopt the principle of requiring rates from the interior points to Spokane to be equal to or less than the rates to the coast might revolutionize the jobbing trade all over the country, the system of giving lower rates to coast cities being general. Spokane is represented in the rate fight by Brooks Adams of Boston, Stephens and Corporation Counsel J. M. Genaghty of this city. The railways and the coast cities are represented by a strong corps of legal advisers. Being estimated that 200 or 300 attorneys have been enlisted in one manner or another in this case. The hearing is expected to last two days and may be followed by supplementary hearings in the coast cities.

PERCY HAYSLEDEN ELECTED CLERK

Percy Haysleden was this morning elected to the position of Clerk of the District Court of Appeals of the State of California. Mr. Haysleden will also receive the promotion from the position of bailiff of the District Court which he has so well filled for the past few years, as he has ever been courteous and faithful to his trust and an efficient and able officer. He has earned the respect and friendship of all the lawyers having any business with this court, by the many kindly little acts which, while they were not required of him by the interpretation of his duties, are nevertheless appreciated by those coming in contact with him.

Mr. Haysleden was born in the city of Alameda and has lived in this county nearly all his life. His promotion is one which passes his friends in this county and will be more appreciated as time shows his capacity in his new place.

MISS NETHERSOLE TO PLAY AT MATINEE

Owing to the fact that Miss Olga Nethersole has been turning hundreds away from the Macdonald theater during the past week, arrangements have been made whereby Miss Nethersole will make just one more appearance in Sepho on next Thursday afternoon. Those who were not afforded an opportunity of seeing this talented English artist will be delighted at the announcement. As the advance side for all her performances were extremely heavy all are advised to secure seats as early as possible.

LEGISLATORS WORK AGAIN

Records Show Executive Acts of Governor Pardee for Past Two Years.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—Both houses of the legislature resumed sessions this morning at 11 o'clock after a recess from Friday noon. Fully one-half of the members of both chambers returned home Friday to spend Saturday and Sunday with their families and friends and it was to accommodate those who could not get here on early trains today that the opening of both sessions at 11 o'clock was decided upon.

During the recess, Speaker Beardslee and President Porter of the Senate devoted considerable time to the appointment of committees which they had promised to announce today, and which promise they redeemed. The principal committees will be found elsewhere in this issue of THE TRIBUNE.

GREAT INTEREST DISPLAYED.

The naming of the committees seemed to be a matter of interest to the public generally because every available inch of standing room in the lobby and gallery of both houses was thronged almost to suffocation. Repeated attempts were made by people who considered themselves privileged to get inside the rail of the Assembly and Senate but were repulsed under rules recently adopted allowing no persons, save members, necessary attaches and members of the press on the floor during sessions in the chambers.

MANY SATISFIED.

Both lists of committees show that a great deal of thought had been given the matter by the presiding officers. Generally speaking, nearly everybody is satisfied with the appointments. The most noticeable sweeping kind of retaliation for partisan political activity which many expected would be resorted to.

ALAMEDA DELEGATION.

The members of the Alameda delegation in both Houses and Senate fared liberally. The plums which fell to them will be found in another column.

AFTER THE APPOINTMENT OF THE COMMITTEES the introduction of bills was commenced and this feature will continue the greater part of the afternoon.

GOVERNOR PARDEE'S WORK.

The records of the office of Secretary of State Curry show that the executive acts of Governor Pardee during the past two years have been as follows: 1,400 pardons, 1,400 commutations of sentence, eleven reprieves, signed 389 restorations to citizenship, issued eleven proclamations offering rewards for stolen property, and other proclamations, granted 1701 orders of release of prisoners from various State prisons under the Governor's act, signed 689 land patents, commissioned 2641 notaries, and twenty-five commissioners of deeds, made 515 executive appointments, approved twenty-seven official bonds and signed one warrant of execution.

NEW BLUE BOOK.

State Printer Shannon says he is of the opinion that a California State Blue Book will be gotten out this year under an appropriation which he believes will be made by the present legislature. The legislature of 1905 failed to make an appropriation for this useful publication regardless of the fact that Secretary of State Curry had the data ready for the printer. As a new administration has come into power, Mr. Shannon says it will be desirable to have that fact recorded. All the information required for the work including statistics of the last election are now in the hands of the Secretary of State and could be immediately prepared for publication.

ON THE PRINCIPLE.

One of the attaches of the legislature who is known to thousands of people all over the Pacific coast is Harry Maynard who, for years, was legislative champion of the coast as well as of Australia. He will be remembered as having conducted a resort on Grant avenue, with a ring attached in which he displayed great versatility. For some years he has been in charge of the elevator at the Capitol and is now the controlling genius of the "lid" in the structure in which the legislative mill is grinding. He has taught the legislators to designate the several floors to which they want to be carried. In the elevator by the names of cities. Thus, the first floor is "Oakland," the next, or Assembly floor, is "Sacramento," the third is "New York," the fourth "Omaha," the fifth, "Philadelphia," and the Senate floor is known as "Washington." Mr. Maynard says he has discovered that the legislators can remember the floors more readily by this means of nomenclature than they could by indicating them numerically.

CHANGING ASSEMBLY CHAMBER.

It took several weeks of hard work on the part of Sergeant-at-arms Jack Stafford of the Assembly to arrange the seats in that chamber so as not to crowd the legislators and, at the same time, enable every member to be seen and heard. Assemblymen sitting in the rear of the hall, however, declare they can hear nothing that is said in the opposite end of the chamber in which the speaker's stand is located. Accordingly, some of the men in the rear want to have the desks and speaker's stand rearranged, the latter to be recreated on the north side of the chamber and the desks so changed as to face it. This proposition means quadrupling the work for Sergeant-at-arms Stafford, the relocating of several desks and other annoyances which can not be discovered until active work has really begun. Besides, the cost will be considerable. No idea can yet be given as to the cost of housing this legislature, but it will cause surprise when it is ascertained because much of the work was done in an emergency and, in many instances, by working over time.

LETTERS AND MESSAGES.

Postoffices for the Assembly and Senate have at length gotten in regular running order on the main floor, five stories below that on which the Senate is located and one story below the Assembly chamber.

The Postal and Western Union Telegraph Companies have offices on the basement floor and, at times, the representatives of the press and legislators have to crush through crowds of attaches and lobbyists in order to file their messages for the press.

Speaker Beardslee of the Assembly mortified an assemblyman from San Francisco by intimating that the San Francisco did not know what he was about. The man from the foggy side of the bay, at a moment when there was business of importance before the house, moved to aurn.

Beardslee turned from a southern assemblyman to whom he was listening and said with some acerbity: "We are here for business and it is useless for members to cause a loss of time to this house by making motions that they seem to know nothing about."

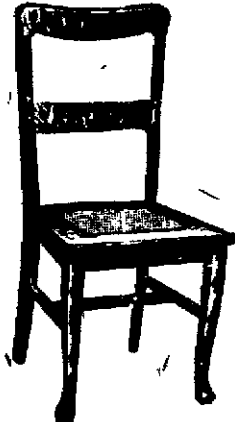

The "crushed" San Francisco man did not reply.
